

Sprinkle a Little Sunshine
©Kath Bee/Suzy Cato 2017

If you're starting to think that the clouds are here to stay
If you're starting to think that they'll never go away
If you're starting to think that the sky is always grey
Well hold on

If you're starting to think that the rain will never stop
If you're starting to think it gets worse with every drop
If you're starting to think it's the same thing every day
Well hold on, hey, hey, hey

CHORUS

Sprinkle a little sunshine over you
Sprinkle a little yellow on your blue
Sprinkle a little sunshine on your day
And pretty soon, things will go your way

If you're starting to think that the moon has lost its glow
If you're starting to think that the stars will never show
If you're starting to think that you're lost in the Milky Way
Well hold on

If you're starting to think that you're running out of puff
If you're starting to think that you've really had enough
Take a deep breath, shake it off, join in and say
Come on, hey, hey, hey

CHORUS

Sprinkle a little sunshine over you
Sprinkle a little yellow on your blue
Sprinkle a little sunshine on your day
And pretty soon, things will go your way

BRIDGE

We all feel a little down sometimes (you know we do)
We all feel a little sad
Our smile turns upside down sometimes we feel good and sometimes bad
All ya gotta do is

Sprinkle a little sunshine over you
Sprinkle a little yellow on your blue
Sprinkle a little sunshine on your day
And pretty soon, things will go your way
Sprinkle a little sunshine over you
Sprinkle a little yellow on your blue
Sprinkle a little sunshine in your own way
And pretty soon, you'll brighten up your day
Sprinkle a little sunshine over you
Sprinkle a little yellow on your blue
Sprinkle a little sunshine on your day
And pretty soon, you know, things will go your way, it's true
Things will go your way, yeah yeah, things will go your way
